

Faculty Committee Assignments 2009-10

In accordance with the Faculty Bylaws, the faculty has established a number of standing committees. By vote of the faculty, establishment and appointment of members to ad hoc committees must be approved by the Executive Committee. With the exceptions of the Cabinet Agenda Committee, the Executive Committee, the Faculty Personnel Committee, the Curriculum Committee, the Faculty Senate, and the Faculty Grievance Committee (most of whose members are elected), the members of faculty committees are normally invited to serve for one-year terms by the President on the recommendation of the Executive Committee. The faculty usually does not act on issues without the recommendation of the relevant faculty committee. Administrators holding courtesy appointments as faculty members may not be elected to faculty committees.

Academic Procedures Committee The Academic Procedures Committee is a standing committee of the faculty composed of three faculty members, one from each Division; the Registrar; a faculty member of the Dean of Students' staff; and two students chosen by the student government. Responsibilities include: a) evaluating academic regulations of the College and recommending changes to the faculty; b) recommending commencement honors to the faculty; and c) ruling on student petitions for exceptions to the rules in effect. An extensive description of this committee's functions appears in Chapter III, Section B, under "Academic Regulations".

The committee, together with the President, appoints the membership of all committees of the faculty except those that have elected memberships. The Executive Committee, in its own work, pays special attention to the broader policies, especially institutional policies, that are of interest and concern to all of the faculty, bringing proposed changes (and new policies) to the full faculty for approval. The Executive Committee also assesses faculty budget priorities and appoints faculty on the following committees of the Board of Trustees: Academic Affairs, Buildings and Grounds, Institutional Advancement, Honorary Degrees, and Student Affairs. The chair of the Executive Committee normally serves as a member of the Intercollegiate Faculty Council.

By action of the faculty (5/10/07), the Executive Committee consists of six faculty with the rank of assistant professor or above. Each division elects its chair, who serves a two-year term as one of the division's representatives on the Executive Committee, the second division representative being elected in accordance with the procedure in the Faculty Handbook. The committee selects its own chair. Elected to two-year staggered terms, the members of the committee are nominated by the divisions and elected by the faculty as a whole; for each office each division will choose at least two nominees. No more than one member of any particular department shall serve on the Executive Committee at the same time. The election is held at the March meeting of the faculty.

Executive Committee members who take leave for one semester must be replaced for the semester by the nominee receiving the second largest number of votes in the original election. The President is Chair of the committee, the Dean of the College is Vice Chair and Secretary, and the Dean of Students is a non-voting permanent member. Faculty membership is nine. The Associate Dean of the College who serves as Diversity Officer and the Assistant Dean of the College are non-voting, staff members of the Committee. Three members from each division are chosen from among faculty members at the rank of assistant professor or above, at least one of whom is a full professor. All members are elected to two-year staggered terms. No more than one member of any particular department shall serve on the Faculty Personnel Committee at the same time. The three members from each division form a subcommittee that investigates departmental recommendations on reappointment, promotion, and tenure, and reports to the Faculty Personnel Committee as a whole.

Members who take leave for a full year must resign from the committee; their unexpired term must be filled by special election from a slate of at least two nominees from the division in question. The faculty members are nominated by the divisions and elected by the faculty as a whole to two-year staggered terms. For each position on the FPAC, the appropriate division will choose at least two nominees. No more than one member of any particular department shall serve on the FPAC at the same time. The division of the student members is determined by their majors (interdisciplinary majors are judgment calls). The student members serve one-year terms. The committee chooses its own chair.
