

The Coalition is a group of 95 public and private colleges and universities leveraging technology to promote early engagement with the college preparation process, support under-resourced students, and promote equitable access to higher education for all. Member schools value affordability by providing low-cost in-state tuition for residents of their states (public institutions) or meeting full demonstrated need of admitted domestic students (private institutions). All members graduate at least 70% of their students within six years.
